

I wanted to take this chance to let you know how much your support is appreciated here in Mongolia. I'm the project leader for the Snow Leopard Conservation Foundation in the Tost region and without you, this project wouldn't be possible.

I was born and raised in Northern Mongolia. My beginnings as a biology teacher sparked my interest in the natural world. Then I became a translator for a snow leopard researcher, Dr. Tom McCarthy. This is where I started learning about snow leopards and the local herders living in their habitat. I became devoted to protecting these beautiful, powerful creatures and to help the herders improve their lives.

Snow leopards are very rare and hard to find.

They're skilled at hunting and they roam with pride much like the Mongolian spirit! Seeing pictures of them from our camera traps fills me with excitement and joy to know they are safe and at home in my country.

Thank you so much for caring about this truly magnificent animal and our project. I'll be sure to tell the rest of the team about our good friends in the UK!
